

GUIDELINE FOR CONTRIBUTORS

- Comprendre is a scientific review which publishes two issues a year. It is opened to contributions on the classic fields of philosophy: metaphysics, epistemology, logical, ethics, philosophy of science, anthropology, history of philosophy, philosophy of religions, aesthetics, etc. It is addressed to an academic audience interested in the current philosophical and humanistic debates.
- Comprendre accepts three types of contributions: articles, critical notes and short reviews. Only original manuscripts not published previously and written in Catalan or in the main European languages (English, Spanish, French, German, Portuguese and Italian) will be considered for publication. Book reviews will be written only in Catalan.
- Contributions will be submitted electronically (comprendre@filosofia.url.edu) in a Word format file. Articles should not exceed 10000 words (including notes and bibliography). Critical notes should not exceed 6000 words. Short reviews should not exceed 2500 words.

Type of letter: Times New Roman, body 12, space 1,5.

- The title, an abstract, over ten lines, and the key words in both the original language and English must be added at the beginning of the contributions
- Citations in footnotes will be numbered continuously. Bibliographical references can be placed in a final Work Citations section, always in alphabetical order by authors.

The next guidelines are recommended to be followed in all the citations.

Type of letter: Times New Roman, body 10, space 1.
